

I support media diversity

I've just had the opportunity to read Molly Ivins editorial about the FCC and the issues of media ownership.

If you do decide to loosen the restrictions, the information regarding gifts of trips and other such things that appear to have influenced the decisions, will come back to undermine your credibility. Americans are getting fed up with such blatant non-representative government. It's time to do the right thing, anything else is unpatriotic.